Distance entrance examination - guidelines

1. The distance entrance examination is an alternative for those applicants who cannot be present at the appointed date and time of the entrance examination at the Faculty of Psychology, e.g. because they live abroad.
2. The Faculty Admission Committee may refuse to allow a distance entrance examination.
3. The distance entrance examination must be written on the same date and at the same time as the entrance examination at the Faculty of Psychology.
4. The distance entrance examination will be available on the Kampus university e-learning platform <https://kampus-rekrutacja.ckc.uw.edu.pl/?lang=en>
5. The applicant must register in the Kampus platform at least 3 days before the examination.
6. The applicant should be able to use the Google Meet videoconferencing app.
7. On the day of the examination the applicant:
 - a. must have an access to a quiet room without a presence of any other person, a computer with a good internet connection and headphones.
 - b. must connect via the Google Meet with the Faculty of Psychology account no later than 20 minutes before the start of the examination.
 - c. must prove his/her identity by means of an identity document via video connection.

I have read and understood the guidelines for the distance entrance examination. I undertake to comply with the requirements.
